Kansas Farm Wonders.

Mr. James E. Fowler, of Hatchers, Kansas, is visiting his uncle, Mr. R. P. Fowler, in this county, for a few days. Mr. Fowler is a native of South county, was reared in this county, but declared that Kansas is the best State now in the Union. He will visit his father, Mr. Thos. S. Fowler, a Pinkard, Woodford county.

In reply to the Climax questions, Mr. Fowler answered with the following statements which Kentuckians cannot afford to challenge for he exhibited the printed proofs thereof from the U. S. Department reports and other reliable sources. He said:

"Kansas ranks first as a wheat producer."

Kansas produced more wheat than all New England, Illinois, Iowa and eleven southern states, all combined."

"Kansas in 1909 produced one-sixth of the total wheat crop of the U. S. and more than double as much as any other state."

In 1907 low Kansas country (Ottawa) was credited with a yield of 6,812,102 bushels of wheat, or more than was produced in the whole state of Texas, or in North Carolina, or in any one of twenty-two other states and territories, and exceeding by over 100,000 bushels the aggregated wheat of New England, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Nevada, New Mexico and Wyoming.

"Notwithstanding Kansas' supremacy in wheat growing, the value of her crop grown in the past twenty years is $300,000,000 more than that of all the wheat crops grown by Kansas since her beginning."

"One county in Kansas raised in 1890 nearly 1,000 bushels of corn. This was more than the combined yields of Maine, Rhode Island, North Dakota, Montana, Wyoming, New Mexico, Utah, Arizona, Nevada, Idaho, Washington, Oregon, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts and Connecticut, or considerably more than the aggregate output of California, Colorado and Florida in the same twelve-month period."

Time for Fishing.

The old-time negro's sign of fishing time is when the lurch begins to crawl, as the old darter puts it. This time has arrived, and the Xianan who have caught many big ones around the store since this winter are now getting their tackle ready. Although the weather remains quite cold, yet several parties are being formed to tramp a little later on. Bait is being sold, poles and lines looked over, while the best houses in Cincinnati from which to order a gallon or so is being investigated.

Causes 95 Per cent of Diseases.

Advice Concerning Stomach Trouble and How to Remedy Them

Do not neglect indigestion which leads to all sorts of ill and complications. An eminent doctor once said that ninety-five per cent of all the human body have their origin in a disordered stomach.

A physician who made a specialty of stomach troubles, particularly dyspepsia, after years of study perfected the formula from which Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are made.

Our experience with Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets leads us to believe them to be the greatest remedy known for the relief of acute indigestion and chronic dyspepsia. Their ingredients are soothing and healing to the inflamed membranes of the stomach. They are rich in pepsin, one of the greatest digestive aids known to medicine. The relief they afford is almost immediate. Their use with persistency and regularity for a short time brings about a cessation of the pains caused by stomach disorders.

Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets will insure healthy appetite, aid digestion and promote nutrition. As evidence of our sincere faith in Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, we ask you to try them at our risk. If they do not give you entire satisfaction, we will return you the money you paid us for them, without question or formality. They come in three sizes: prices 25 cents, 50 cents and $1. Remember you can obtain them only at our store. H. L. Perry.

Concrete notes last forever. For sale by O. W. Potts, 123 Boggs' Lane, Richmond, Kentucky.

No More Hangings

Gov. Wilson has approved the new law abolishing hanging and adopting electrocution. Under the new law, when a man is convicted and must die, he will be taken to the Frankfort penitentiary and there executed in the electric chair. We dislike to say it, but there is little use of adopting any punishment, for, under the present state of affairs, any man with a little money can get out of any punishment, no matter how black a crime. The trouble is Kentucky's present lack of enough hangings. A few more murderers strung up to trees, in the old-fashioned way, would have a splendid effect, and 'tis a pity such justice is not meted out.

The Right Sort of Wife.

An Athens man recently refused a proposal of marriage. "I like you," he said to the girl, "but you have too many friends. There would be too many at our wedding, for you would be afraid not to invite them all, and your many friends wouldn't be satisfied unless they made fools of us by playing some kind of crazy games on us when we started on our wedding journey. You have so many friends that we would get all kinds of presents that we don't want, and would be kept poor in future trying to pay back when the donors get married. You are nice, and I like you, but what I am looking for is a wife in a woman who is friendless."

Of Interest to Churches Needing Pavements.

A certain concrete pavement contractor here has proposed to lay the concrete pavements in front of the churches of this city at a ridiculously low price, and he stands ready to make good his offer whenever the church authorities get ready to obey the orders of the Council to lay the much needed pavements in front of their churches. As this means a saving of money and secures improvements much needed, why should not the governing boards take up the matter?

Kentucky Women Succeeding in Newspaper Work

By A. Louise Babbage

Arthur Brisbane, the highest rated newspaper man in America, who spoke before the Chicago's Woman's club in that city recently, said journalism is "the greatest thing in the world." Not even love did he hold as an exception. Simply because journalism itself is just a big bundle of love, and all that is not love in this magazine profession is placed into the waste basket. This has proven true in the careers of Kentucky women who are succeeding in newspaper work today.

Especially in the experience of Mrs. Daisy Fitzhugh Ayers, a Kentuckian, now engaged in newspaper work at the national capital. She was more than twice as a correspondent for the seven largest papers in seven other states besides Kentucky. Mrs. Ayers has been on the staff of the Courier-Journal since Washington nine years and is connected with several New York publications. She is the author of "The Open Road," a novel of Washington life. Mrs. Ayers was raised in Lexington and she has been writing ever since she was a school girl. She is the widow of a Vice Consul man. Her parents are Capt. and Mrs. R. H. Fitzhugh, who came to the Blue Grass capital from Virginia.

In Brookridge county Miss Virginia McElhannon and Miss Mayne Deffenha are bright young women who are earning more than any money by corresponding for the Brookridge News and The Fourth District Leader. Mrs. McElhannon is a correspondent for the News from Lexington and Miss Deffenha is representative for The Leader at Chertsey. They are both well known for their correspondence. Miss McElhannon had never written for a newspaper before she took up the work for The News and the way she learned to write letters may be helpful to the girl who wants to learn reporting. She clipped reports about fires, deaths and daily occurrences from different papers and by these she learned to write the news happenings of a day. Connected with The News is a most remarkable young man, Miss Esther Jackson, who has been Mr. H. H. Jackson's office nearly six years and she works when she is not writing. Her regular duties are confined to the printer's department.

Writers of Central Kentucky. At Lexington are five young women who have attained journalistic accomplishments and whose efforts have been commensurate. They are: Mary B. Bryan, Miss Katherine Hill, Miss Mary Katherine Hill, Miss Dora Brockridge, and Miss Alice Lloyd. Miss Bryan is secretary editor for The Lexington Leader. She has been with that paper thirteen years and has never missed but two months from the news in that time. Mrs. Bryan is an enthusiastic club woman, a member of the Lexington Chapter of the D. A. R., the Woman's Club of Central Kentucky and the Pleas Club of Lexington.

Miss Billingsley is secretary editor of the Lexington Herald. She is the daughter of the well-known lawyer, George E. Billingsley, who married Miss Nann's Davidson, daughter of one of the most successful bankers in the South. Mrs. Bailey has been with Mr. J. Tandy Hughes in a magazine agency and writes syndicated articles. She has written many charming articles and her travels abroad have added a particular interest to her writings. Mrs. Debra Brockridge, whose husband is editor of the Lexington Herald, is a great talent newspaper woman, although in the last year she has devoted most of her time to education work of forming school improvement leagues. She is chairman of the Lexington Committee of Kentucky Women's Clubs and has done some valuable work with The Herald's "prize" ladies. Mrs. Brockridge is a graduate of Henry Clay and in her office a talented reporter. Before her marriage she was Miss Madeline McElhannon.

Has Newspaper Relations. Miss Katherine Euphonia Murrell is a talented young woman and represents the Louisville Times at Columbia. Miss Murrell is the niece of C. S. Harris in publishing and editing the Advertiser-Courier. Her father, the late C. H. Murrell, was traveling representative for that paper ten years.

Among young newspaper editors in New Haven are Miss Camilla Haggard and Miss Pelicia Haggard, correspondents for the Louisville Times. Miss Haggard is the niece of John A. Barry, editor of The New Haven Bee. Miss Betty Moore, of Burlington, writes for The Evening Bee, a splendid paper published by her brother, Harry Moore, one of the best known newspaper men of the Kentucky Press Association.

For fifteen years Mrs. Harry McCarty, of Nicholasville, who is associated with her husband, publisher of the Kentucky Journal, has been bookkeeper for the Kentucky Press Association. Three years ago she went to write for the Bureau of the Journal, and from that time she has advanced to the editorial department.

Three Competent Girls. Miss Betty L. Hubbard, of Lexington, and Miss Gable Perry, of Winchester, are writing good on the leading papers in the state. Besides writing well, they can operate a typewriter machine. Miss Perry works when she chooses and is "home" of the Brookridge News. She has attended many meetings of the National Editorial Association with her father, R. R. Perry. Her paper on how to start a daily made a hit in both the state and national press meetings of last year. Miss Hubbard is in the office of The Louisville Courier Herald and is one of the best writers known to the Kentucky Press Association. She is beautiful as well as talented.

Miss Lena Rollins, who has the distinction of being the "mountain girl" in the Kentucky Press Association, and a delightful one, is secretary of the Brookridge News. Miss Rollins is well known on the circulation end of the newspaper business. One system she says that The Kentucky Press Association has increased its circulation with her. And for the last five years she has been instrumental in traveling men and other people, asking them for subscriptions to The News. The scheme is excellent in getting new subscribers.

Successful Journalists. In Western Kentucky Mrs. Virginia Deffenha has achieved a brilliant success in journalism on the editorial staff of The Owensboro Messenger. She is a member of the Kentucky Press Association in June, which in all probability will be held at the Woodford Inn, and secretary of the association, favors the idea, and no doubt, this will be one of the most important gatherings of the Kentucky Press Association.

The Kentucky newspaper women as a whole, are the happiest and most successful in any state in the Union. May their ink bottles be full and running over with glory and honor forever.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY THE CLIMAX PRINTING CO.
(Incorporated.)
A. D. MILLER, Editor
KENTUCKY PRESS ASSOCIATION
601 NORTH THIRD STREET, RICHMOND, KY.
TERMS: $1.00 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE
WEDNESDAY APRIL 6, 1910

The Climax has repeatedly urged upon its citizens the necessity of organizing a Commercial Club, an organization imperative to the progress of every city. It is the only one of the kind in the history of the city, and a little looking on the part of our business men at this time will yield rich returns. Enterprises employing hundreds of men can be secured by the concerted action of every one of our wide-awake business men, to say nothing of the business of Eastern Kentucky, and The Climax feels certain steps will be taken to reorganize the Commercial Club, but would like to see immediate action in this direction. The Climax will be pleased to publish expressions from our citizens on the question, starting in our first and continuing as possible, their views on the subject.

The newspaper boys over the state regret exceedingly the continued illness of Tom Underwood, of the Hopkinsville News. Mr. Underwood is one of the most versatile and facile writers in Kentucky, and his paper did more to suppress the night riders in the western section than any other paper in the State. He is president of the Kentucky Press Association and one of the most popular newspaper men in the State.

Who would imagine the money has a journal devoted entirely to its staff? This periodical is known as the National Money Journal, and is supported mainly by the National Money Club. Particulars of the various clubs, at which valuable prizes are given and remarkable prizes obtained for uncommon varieties of the money, are to be found in the journal together with a mass of other information.

Insurance Commissioner C. W. Bell, who edits the Kentucky Republican, a paper published at Harrodsburg, in an editorial charges the Legislature with graft on the "extra help" proposition. He says there were persons who received vouchers for their services when they were not present during the session, and points out that some of the help employed under the resolution did not earn the per diem.

The balance in the treasury April 1, 1910, was $100,000. The total amount of the bonded indebtedness of the State is $1,000,000. The deficit at the end of the fiscal year, 1910, was $1,000,000. The deficit at the end of the fiscal year, 1910, was $1,000,000. The deficit at the end of the fiscal year, 1910, was $1,000,000.

The President has sent to the Senate the appointment of Mr. M. M. McKee as member of the Smithsonian Commission. This makes another feather in the cap of Senator Bradley. Mr. Thatcher is entirely worthy of the high honor.

Senator Pendergast, who has been connected with the Jennings Journal for some time, has accepted a position on the Nashville Tribune. Mr. Pendergast is one of the cleverest writers in Central Kentucky, and will be a valuable acquisition to the Tribune staff.

As a part of the program to combat political parties in Minnesota to county election, William D. Bryan has been invited by the Anti-Slavery League of that state to be the principal speaker at a big rally to be held in St. Paul on May 1st.

Kentucky's Gold.

More gold has been found in the State, this time reported from Bell county, and said to be in paying quantities, assaying seventy-five per cent. This is a much better grade than that of some of the other counties, which are being exploited. Speaking of gold mines however, there is nothing better than a blue grass farm with properly managed, and that is what pays better dividends at present prices of agricultural products.

Pity She Waked Him.

It is said that one of our leading citizens went to sleep Sunday in church just before the last was passed. He seemed for awhile in a lady-like manner, but suddenly let out a few lines that sounded like a trombone solo. At that point in the program his wife, who had been sitting in the front row, turned around and looked at him with a look of surprise.

Beautiful Edition.

The entrained bands of a native Kentuckian, reproduced in their charming native tints of the delicate yellow, with the vivid green of the leaves emphasizing the beauty of coloring, are used in the cover design of the special bulletin of the second Kentucky Agricultural Fair, just issued by J. G. Crabbe, Superintendent of Public Instruction. The pleasant impression created by a fine picture of the annual with its artistic cover, is increased a hundredfold by the varied and delightful contents of the book, which has been composed by Jennie Graft Gaskin.

Profit In Porkers.

After reaching the $11 mark the hog market has been steadily rising up and down and seriously thinks of making $12 before the rise is at an end, says the Commercial Appeal. A little extra attention to the hog market will pay a farmer a fortune. A little extra attention to the hog market will pay a farmer a fortune. A little extra attention to the hog market will pay a farmer a fortune.
